

Steve Tomaski

The 2007 Otsego County Fair is dedicated to "Steve Tomaski" who is a long time supporter of the Otsego County Fair.

Steve was born and raised in Otsego County. He has three married children, which include Beth and her husband Steve, Daniel and his wife Anna and Ryan and his wife Erin. He also enjoys spending time with his three grandchildren, Quinton, Trevor and Zoe. Steve's wife Mary says, "He is a great husband, father and grandfather."

Steve and his wife Mary own and operate Vision of Victory Ranch in Johannesburg where they raise Foundation Quarter Horses and Corriente Roping Steers.

He is an avid team-roper. At last year's Fair Steve participated in the team-roping event during the rodeo. He has been the past vice president of the Foundation Quarter Horse Association. Steve enjoys his career in announcing rodeo events at the state and national level.

Steve is an elder and member of the Johannesburg Christian Church where he enjoys playing his guitar every Sunday. Steve served on the Otsego Soil Conservation board for several years and has twice received their yearly "Farmer of the Year" award. He is also a strong supporter of raising children to appreciate their heritage and the land.

Being the youngest County Commissioner to serve in Otsego County is another one of Steve's great accomplishments. Steve is a huge supporter of the 4-H Livestock Program. He has sponsored 4-H children and their animals for many years and is a supporter of the 4-H Livestock Auction held each year at the Fair. Steve has helped the Otsego County Sheriff's Mounted Division with security at the fair grounds for many years. He is always willing to lend a hand.

The Otsego County Fair Board and Associate Members would like to "THANK YOU, STEVE" for your support of the Otsego County Fair.
